Who is the largest foreign-owned financial institution in Japan, with a legacy of innovation dating back over 100 years? CITIGROUP, of course.

Since 2004, Douglas Peterson, Citibank Japan CEO and ACCJ board member, has been leading Citi's operations in Japan. He is also a member of Citigroup's Operating Committee working directly with Chuck Prince, CEO of Citigroup as a member of the global senior management team.

Mr. Peterson will speak about his experience leading Citigroup in Japan, an organization of some 7,000 employees, whose diversity and culture is quite unique and one of its key strengths in Japan. Peterson will also share his in-depth experience and knowledge in the field of corporate governance, as good governance is an essential ingredient in corporate success and sustainable economic growth.

Peterson, with Citigroup for over 21 years, has served in Argentina, New York, Costa Rica, and Uruguay. Prior to becoming CEO of Citibank Japan, Peterson served as Citigroup's Chief Auditor.

Don't miss the first "Leadership Series" event of 2007!

A Q&A session will follow. NOTE: The contents of this program are OFF THE RECORD.
