ACCJ Kansai and OCCJ are pleased to have Mr. Ravi Chaturvedi, Chairman of Procter & Gamble Japan, speak on February 6th.

Becoming a successful corporation is difficult by itself, but sustaining this success year after year in competitive industries is even more difficult. Soon as you establish a success model, competitors are out to copy it and better it; so they can regain success at your company's expense. In strategies and leadership for sustainable success, Procter & Gamble Japan Chairman and ACCJ Governor Ravi Chaturvedi will lay out some simple, but timeless principles that can be applied to sustain corporate success for decades on end, based on the company's experience of being a leading consumer goods company over the past 170 years. These principles can be applied to engineer turnarounds, too, when corporations face difficult times. It is our belief that these principles are applicable in any industry at any time because of their simplicity-- astute choice making; and inspiring leadership to execute the choices with excellence.

Presentation begins at 7:00 p.m. Following Mr. Chaturvedi's talk, food and beverages will be provided for members and guests to network in a casual atmosphere as only the Garden City Club Osaka can provide.
